School Levies Need Stressed

Finances Discussed At Public Meeting

The two Salem school levies to become effective Jan. 1, 1960, if passed at the Nov. 3 election, were discussed at an open meeting on Thursday night in the YWCA. The session was arranged by the League of Women Voters of Salem. Twenty-five persons attended.

School Supt. Paul Smith and Darrell Fadel, assistant superintendent and business manager of the system, explained that renewal of the 2.6-mill levy is asked to provide part of the operating costs of Salem Public Schools, as it has for the past five years, and that the purpose of the emergency 4.5 levy is to provide additional funds for current operating expenses.

The 2.6 mill levy would run for five years, and the 4.5 levy would run for only two years. It was pointed out the additional expense of meeting increased costs of textbooks, supplies and building maintenance, the increase of 160 students and the teachers to instruct them, and the adjustment of salaries necessitates the asking for the emergency levy.

The increase in taxes to property owners for the new 4.5-mill levy would be $4.50 per thousand of property valuation, it was explained.

Supt. Smith stressed that both levies are necessary to continue the first class program of the school system. The anticipated budget for 1960 is $1,191,063 which includes a $50,000 deficit. The amount of money in sight totals only $1,066,483. Four mills of the emergency levy would bring the total up to the amount needed to meet the budget, and the extra half mill, amounting to $21,000, would be used as a contingency fund for major repairs and emergencies, he explained.

When questioned about the possible renewal of the emergency levy at the end of two years, Supt. Smith said that although no guarantee can be made, the board hopes to effect economies that will make this unnecessary. He added that in the last month, there has been an addition of a school psychologist and three special classes, four units will be partly financed by state aid.

Two Lisbon People Hurt In Accident

Two Lisbon residents are in fair condition in Salem City Hospital today following a two-car accident at 7:55 p.m. Thursday on Rt. 154, 1.5 miles west of Rogers.

President Meets Cabinet Officers On Steel Strike

White House Won't Say Whether T-H Injunction Imminent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower conferred for an hour on the steel strike with four cabinet officers today, but the White House refused to say whether a Taft-Hartley back-to-work injunction was imminent.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell had reported on his conference in New York Thursday with President David J. McDonald and other top officers of the 500,000 striking steelworkers.

Others present today—including Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and Secretary of Commerce Frederick C. Mueller — also gave Eisenhower reports on the dispute which has halted 87 per cent of the country's basic steel output for 87 days, Hagerty said. "That's all I'm going to say now," Hagerty added.

The press secretary refused to state whether anything further could be expected from the White House today on whether—in answer to a reporter's question—the decision on invoking the 80-day cooling-off injunction machinery of the labor law "now is in the President's hands."

The cabinet group and several others had breakfast with Eisenhower starting about 7:30 a.m., then went to Eisenhower's office for more talk.

Besides the cabinet officers, the group included Hagerty; Chairman Raymond J. Saulnier of the president's Council of Economic Advisers; David Kendall, presidential legal counsel; and Wilton B. Persons, assistant to the President.

Eisenhower appeared to have only two open choices — a Taft-Hartley injunction to put the men back to work for a cooling-off and negotiating period, or some such move as asking the strikers and management to meet together at the White House.

Eisenhower had set down sort of an informal deadline before he left for his California vacation by saying he wanted to see some progress before he returned.

He came back Thursday. The strike was still deadlocked. Management and labor weren't talking to each other.

But there was no immediate White House action on his return. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell met briefly in New York Thursday with union officials. His only comment was that the union leaders had brought him up to date on the strike situation.

Management says it has offered 15 cents per hour gains over the next two years. The union says it wants that much on an annual basis. Average hourly earnings before the strike began were $3.11.

Lisbon Man Absolved

In Car Theft Case

LISBON — An indictment for auto larceny against Ralph Richard Groff, 21, of Lisbon RD 2, was cancelled by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Thursday at the request of Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Groff was indicted by the September grand jury jointly with Kenneth McVay, 24, and William E. House, 21, both of Lisbon, for theft of a car owned by Ralph Stampo of Leetonia, May 21.

Prosecutor Brokaw nolleed the charge against Groff because of evidence which shows he was not involved in the theft.

Both McVay and House pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for probation.

Community Fund Agencies (No. 10)

Quaker Band Closely Tied to City

Any Monday night, summer or winter, you can hear music coming from the American Legion Home at the corner of State St. and Lincoln Ave. This music is being made by what many Salem area people think as "the best band in the land."

And as one of the 11 community fund agencies, the American Legion Quaker City Band, which held the 1958 national Legion competition title and five consecutive state titles, receives $900 yearly from the campaign drive. The band is the major instrumental group in Salem, with approximately 60 musicians on the roster. Members rehearse every Monday for three hours which keeps them "in tune" not only for national competition, but also for the band's original purpose — to serve the community through music.

At one time the success of any civic function from ice cream social to political rally was determined by how long and loudly the band played. Today the band doesn't play on every civic or social occasion, a fact regretted by many whose memories go back beyond this space age, but the Quaker City Band appears whenever it is called on for parades and special events.

Since 1896 there has been a Quaker City Band in Salem. It was first organized under the direction of George W. Chappell. When the band's second director resigned after nearly 33 years with the

VanDoren Fails To Answer TV Probe Invitation

Quiz Winner Gets Suspension From Duties With NBC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big question today in Congress was: Will Charles Van Doren, hero of millions of question-and-answer fans, come in and talk about charges the programs were rigged?

Van Doren, who won prominence as a $129,000 winner on the now defunct show Twenty-One, volunteered Tuesday to repeat under oath his statement that he was never assisted in any form and has no knowledge of any assistance having been given to any other contestant.

But he made no reply to a pointed invitation that he appear before a House subcommittee investigating the quiz shows, and he later told a newsmen he had no comment whatsoever on the hearings, which go into an indefinite recess after today's session.

The National Broadcasting Co. suspended him Thursday from duties as a consultant and performer under a $50,000-a-year contract signed after his Twenty-One triumph. NBC said the suspension was effective "pending a final determination of the current congressional investigation of quiz programs."

Testimony of other Twenty-one contestants that the show was fixed did not accuse Van Doren of taking part in the fakery. But one contestant, Herbert Stempel, swore that he himself was coached and was told when ties with Van Doren would occur and was finally directed to lose to Van Doren.

One subcommittee member, Rep. Steven B. DeLoach (R-N.Y.), said that if Van Doren does not appear voluntarily, he should be brought in under subpoena.

Longshoremen Bow to U.S. Injunction

Coast Ports Alive After Court Order

NEW YORK (AP)—Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports sprang to life again today after an eight-day strike by 85,000 dock workers.

The Longshoremen bowed to the federal pressure, applied from the top by President Eisenhower, and went back to work pending further efforts to work out new contracts with employers.

A federal court order issued here Thursday night brought an end to the eight-day walkout that stranded over 200 freighters in harbors along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Judge Irving R. Kaufman, acting under the Taft-Hartley Act at government request, issued a temporary 10-day restraining order.

The International Longshoremen's Assn. Complied with the order immediately, sending back-to-work telegrams to all its locals.

A major task was to get an estimated 30 million dollars in perishable goods out of ships' holds and on the way to buyers.

Struck ports handled 81 per cent of the nation's dry cargo shipments. None of the big passenger liners were seriously hampered.

Conservatives to Rule England 5 Years

Macmillan Elected Third Straight Time

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party returned to power today for a third term.

With 338 of the 630 House of Commons seats decided when counting stopped for the night, Conservatives held 205, Laborites 180 and Liberals 3. The Conservatives had a net gain of 17 seats, the Liberals 1 and the Laborites had lost a net of 18.

On this showing the Conservatives would outnumber all other parties by roughly 80 seats when all results are in. In the last Parliament their over-all majority was 53. Some Conservative leaders, and even some Laborites, were talking of a 100-seat majority.

In the popular vote, the Conservatives so far had taken 8,451,204, or 49.3 per cent; Labor 7,707,733 or 44.9 per cent, and the Liberals 888,146, or 5.2 per cent. Minor parties accounted for the remainder.

The popular vote in the last general election, in 1955, went 49.74 per cent for the Conservatives, 46.36 for Labor and 2.70 for the Liberals.

Thus the British electorate spurned lavish promises of tax cuts and pension increases offered by the socialistic Labor party.

Instead they backed the Conservatives' free enterprise policies, their "peace and plenty" platform, and chose Macmillan rather than Labor's Hugh Gaitskell to talk for Britain at the summit.

The vote gives the Conservatives a mandate to rule for another five years. Their third straight win is a feat without precedent in modern British politics. As leader of the Conservatives, Macmillan continues in office as prime minister after the new Parliament meets Oct. 27.

Once the election dust is settled, Macmillan will press on in his drive for a summit conference.

While seeking an accommodation with the Soviets, Macmillan stands firmly behind the British-American alliance.

He is not, however, an uncritical ally. As he sees it, Britain's role is to use its long experience in world affairs to try to bring the Western and Communist blocs together.

U.S. officials in Washington obviously were relieved by the Conservative re-election. They foresaw that Allied policy would move forward without change, rather than have to readjust to Laborite ideas.

They were injured when an auto driven by Charles L. Dougan, 36, of RD 3, Alliance crashed into the rear of their vehicle on Rt. 62, about one and one-half miles west of Salem.

Professor, 9 Students Killed; 12 Others Hurt

New Jersey Crash Occurs on Return From Theater Party

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—A professor and nine Trenton State College coeds were burned to death today when a tank truck rammed into a bus taking them home from a theater party in New York.

Eleven girls and the truck driver were injured, some of them seriously burned, in the flaming disaster on rainswept Rt. 1.

The bus carried 40 students, a driver and Dr. Ernest Sixta, 40, professor of history at the college, who was killed. A native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he was graduated in 1952 from the University of London where he had been a Fulbright scholar.

They were part of a two-bus caravan which was 25 miles from its destination when the bus stopped for a traffic light in the rain and fog.

The truck smashed into the back of the bus.

The gas tank at the rear of the bus exploded, probably killing Sixta immediately. He was seated in the rear with his wife.

The bus driver said the girls had tumbled out the front door and the rear emergency door which the driver wrested open.

The flames spread to the cab of the truck, where driver Roscoe Poe, 54, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was hanging out the door pinned by his ankle.

"Don't let me die this way," he screamed at approaching firemen Henry Reilly and Vincent Regan. The firemen worked with wrenches and crowbars to free him.

"Thank God you're here. Oh my God, thank God you're here. Help me, save me," he cried over and over.

Just after Poe was dragged away, the flames reached the huge tank trailer, which held no fuel but was full of fumes. The tank exploded and demolished the truck.

The scene of the fiery crash is opposite the farm of the Rutgers University Agriculture College, North Brunswick is 30 miles southwest of New York City.

The bus driver, Carmen Nini, 40, of Trenton, said he approached the traffic light at five miles an hour just before 1 a.m. When the truck hit, the impact knocked the

THE TRUE STORY OF THE MODELS RACKET!

Wives and Success

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK AP— "We believe that behind the success of most men is a good woman, who is a good influence on him—and 99 per cent of the time it is his wife."

You may have heard a statement like that before. James F. Roach, 66, has said it with conviction, over the years, to some 3,000 women who never broke in to protest. They liked his crisp assurance that good wives are good for business.

Roach, ruddy, white-haired, and a family man himself, is an experienced spokesman of a growing corporation trend—to bring the wife into the American business family.

"We don't just hire the man," said Roach, vice president of the Electroflux Corp. "Technically we do. But actually we hire the wife as well as the man because her attitude inescapably influences him."

One of the deans of door-to-door salesmanship, Jim Roach pushed his first button and sold his first vacuum cleaner 35 years ago in the Bronx after working 14 years for a cash register firm.

He has become a specialist in pushing the button on the front door of the woman behind the man who pushes the button to opportunity. His story to the girls "Help your family by encouraging your husbands."

Roach cites statistics at company reward meetings to wives and mothers—no girl friends attend on the company cuff—to prove how important their feminine encouragement is.

"Not one of our top 15 producers is a bachelor," said Roach. Electroflux has thousands of salesmen in the field, won't name the number. Roach placed the in-come of "established successful Electroflux foot soldiers at from $7,500 to $10,000, with a fervid few topping $20,000."

Since the company daily puts its sales infantry across thousands of new family thresholds, it is concerned by morality as well as sell-push and product quality.

"I'd guess 98 per cent of our men are married," said Roach. "They tend to make better salesmen because of their home responsibility."

"The most common single fault among wives," said Roach, "is lack of understanding of what is required by their husband to find success—and to pay their share of that price."

These are the basic nine questions that Roach feels the wife of any man trying to sell his way in the business world should ask herself:

"Have you got faith in your husband's ability to succeed?"

"Are you willing and capable of demonstrating that faith?"

"Are you undermining his effectiveness by needless worries?"

"Are you making too many or too unreasonable demands upon his time?"

"Are you being unduly critical about his working evenings occasionally?"

"Are you intruding into your husband's business, rather than being a silent partner in it?"

"Are you careful to avoid gossip and spreading stories? If not, this can be fatal to his job."

"Do you always try to maintain a friendly, helpful attitude toward the people in his organization, particularly toward other wives?"

"Are you trying to 'come out of the kitchen' too soon, and putting a brake on your husband's success by living beyond your means in an effort to outdo the Joneses?"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Only Walter Reuther's biting Dick Nixon would make bigger news than what I'm about to report. Walter Reuther has been warming up to the vice president. A few years ago Reuther would have automatically expelled himself for action unbecoming Walter Reuther. But not the new

Victor Riesel

A month ago, the militant Auto Union leader dispatched a long personal letter to Richard Nixon, the presidential aspirant, not Richard Nixon the vice president. He was asked to address the huge Auto Workers convention in Atlantic City, N.J., on Oct. 15, the windup spot, the day before the great finale.

This would have put Mr. Nixon in the clean-up position after other presidential front runners had spoken. Sen. John Kennedy, for example, is set for Oct. 12.

But on the 5th, Mr. Nixon will be on the one short holiday he can take in the next 13 months. He dispatched a cordial telegram saying he couldn't make it.

Here the old Reuther would have rested. But the red head apparently meant what he said about equal representation at the UAW's 17th constitutional convention.

HE TELEGRAPHED the vice president offering to change dates. Nixon tried to juggle his appointments all weekend and on Monday telephoned Reuther personally to say it was impossible for him to make it.

After discussing the convention, the vice president congratulated the Detroit on his debate with Chairman Khrushchev in San Francisco, saying that the labor leader "did better homework than most others who met the Soviet chief of state."

No one was deceiving anyone. These men will be battling each other in next summer's presidential campaign. But Reuther is determined to drop his aura of extreme partisanship. It is his way of serving notice on all on every front. That's why he invited Nelson Rockefeller as well as such Democrats as Sen. Stuart Symington and Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

WHAT REUTHER is preparing for only Reuther knows. If I knew every motivation, I would incorporate myself and sell shares.

One thing is certain. It will make headlines — and the Auto Union leader generally makes them when he prepares to tackle the auto industry. That's about 18 months off. When that clash comes, the country will reverberate, and Reuther knows that when he launches his drive for renewal of the Big Three auto contracts, the Big Three aren't likely to yield, any quicker than the steel industry did for Brother Dave McDonald.

This convention then is the opening propaganda salvo. First Reuther will move to build up his treasury by increasing dues from $3 to about five dollars a month — which should bring the national union and its locals some 24 million dollars more each year.

Then he will schedule a special Auto Union wage policy convention for some time next fall or winter, probably exactly a year from now.

Then, if the usual "inner circle" talk is accurate, Reuther will call for a national labor - management - government - consumer council to be convened by the President of the U.S. Reuther will say that this is in the interests of the public.

HE WILL POINT to the steel deadlock. He will talk of wages, prices and inflation.

He knows, of course, that the Steel Union in the public's mind, has been thought of as fighting for inflationary wage increases. Reuther doesn't want to be hoisted on that one.

He wants a national council to consider how to get higher wages for his million auto workers and to talk of avoiding higher prices for cars if he pushes for bigger pay and a shorter work week.

Also he wants some sort of public body to be there for an appeal to the White House if he gets into a picket line fight with the auto industry.

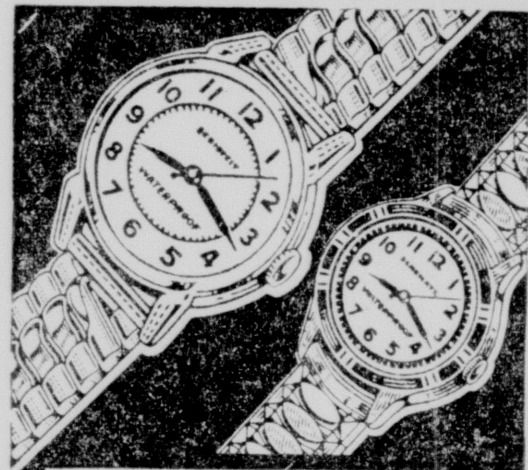

Reuther knows the value of a denaturalized White House. He knows that the Steel Union would have lost this one if it had not had Vice President Nixon operating on one level behind the scenes and finally President Eisenhower summoning both sides.

Reuther is aware that they acted like anything but the kind of anti-labor force he paints Republicans in his fiery speeches.

Reuther is a swift ball carrier. He knows when to hit the line and when to reverse through a broken field and when to pass. And if he has to flip, he knows his no good passing without a receiver down the field.

Not Everybody Will Blame Ike

The principal spokesmen for United Steelworkers is blaming President Eisenhower for stepping into the steel strike.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, says every legal means will be used to block a federal court injunction ordering the steel industry to go back to work.

This will make it appear that United Steelworkers wanted the strike to continue without interruption.

It will make it sound as if going back to work has hurtful to the union's interests.

And of course it will make it appear that President Eisenhower has lined up in opposition to the union, which is deep in Democratic politics, as most unions are these days.

THE PRESIDENT knew how it would be if the time came for him to step into the strike. He urged the companies and the union not to put the government on the spot. He did not welcome additional evidence that tee collective bargaining is workable in the United States only when the union gets what it wants; that if employers want something the result will be a deadlock.

Though Mr. Eisenhower never has said so, he surely could not have relished the prospect, either, of being kicked around verbally by the McDonalds, Reuthers and Meanys of unionism who jump at every chance to make it appear the White House is occupied by a relentless foe of labor.

They know as well as anyone else that President Eisenhower has lived up to his 1952 campaign promise to be the chief executive of all the American people. They know as well as anyone else that he has leaned over backward to prove he has the best interests of laboring men and women at heart. But union leaders, being in politics, talk like politicians.

They must have someone to tongue-lash when they need to divert attention from themselves. Even Harry Truman and Franklin Roosevelt, who professed undying friendship for every union leader who would help line up votes for them, cringed under the scathing abuse of leaders like John L. Lewis and Philip Murray on occasion.

MR. EISENHOWER can grin and bear it. He doesn't have to talk like a politician. He is not running for re-election. He learned long ago that nothing any union leader can say will make or break the president of the United States.

Let them tongue-lash him. Let them tongue-lash the Republican party, which they will not lift a finger to help anyway, because all their eggs now are in the Democratic basket.

Not everybody is going to blame Ike for breaking a deadlock in the steel industry long enough to give the country some of the steel it needs and long enough to give the two-thirds of a million employees in steel and related enterprise some of the wages they need to finish out the year.

Millions will bless him for it. Some will be steelworkers and their families.

Those who curse him can always look forward to going back on strike next January, if that is still the grand strategy of United Steelworkers when the end "breathing spell" is over.

In India They Do It Harder

The issue in the walkout of the Atlantic Coast longshoremen is automation, which means the issue is whether or not employers in the shipping industry will be permitted to hold down their competitive costs.

This is by no means remote; it is not confined to any one occupation, nor to any one industry. Neither is it geographically remote in this instance, because longshoremen in Atlantic seaports, for example, now must compete for jobs against their own brothers in the new freshwater ports opened by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

It will take a long time for longshoremen in these new ports to set up all the precedents and customs that make longshoremen one of the Atlantic seaboard's most expensive luxuries.

Not only have they surrounded their work-

Care Enough. Give!

Are you doing your part? Salem Community Chest workers are canvassing the city in behalf of the chest fund which supports the work of 11 "red feather" organizations which mean so much to so many of us.

The goal is $61,295. To date, slightly over $25,000 has been raised and the first week of the '59 campaign is nearly at an end.

This leaves $36,000 still to be obtained to help the agencies which make our community a better place in which to live. These include the Home Nursing Service, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Memorial Building, Catholic Charities, Salvation Army, both local hospitals, the Quaker City Band, Home For Aged Ladies and the YWCA.

Many of us share in the activities one or more of these organizations provide, yet we hesitate when asked to give to the Community Chest.

Be ready when the Chest solicitor calls and do your part to help put the fund drive over the top.

Once Over

Russia has fired the first "round-trip" moon rocket. It happened during the World Series but we forgot what inning or who was on base at the time. Get a two-way moon rocket and you'll have moon-earth commuter troubles.

The Soviet seems to be staging "Let's Embarrass America Again Month."

It's a little face-reddening for Uncle Sam to see all the American emphasis on 1960 luxury sedan and stationwagon models while Moscow introduces lunar rockets which we can't equal for years to come. We're ahead in upholstery, recessed twin lights, swivel seats, grilles and aluminum trim (not to mention popular song recordings) but the Soviets lead the league in Jules Verne lunar hardships.

Khrushchev hopes to get pictures of other side of the moon. Up to now we only know the Irving Berlin, Cole Porter and Kate Smith side. This latest moon news is first case where Russia admitted there were two sides to anything.

IF THE SOVIETS PHOTOGRAPH the other side it may show the moon inhabitants have a rocket base there and are getting ready to get even with the earth. Anything can happen these days. The big danger is that before we get a man into space Russia may get not only a man but a woman. This column's lunar expert reports the following signals from round-trip rocket:

Monday: Circling moon. It's wonderful. No commercials to be heard anywhere.

Tuesday: The moon looks magnificent on both sides and down the middle. It has no male quartettes or TV ventriloquists.

Wednesday: The rumor Conrad Hilton and Bill Zeckendorf had already but agents on both sides of the moon seem premature. But they think the Fuller Brush man has

West Berlin May Still Be Key

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Can Moscow demonstrate that anything, basically, has changed in its approach to the issue of West Berlin's future? This may be the key question standing in the way of a summit meeting.

A short time ago the world was told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had removed the main obstacles to a summit conference. Only Tuesday Khrushchev seemed to contribute to renewed doubts.

The summit question now is a political issue in Britain, a source of annoyance in France and probably a bit of a Washington headache.

Conservative Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in the midst of a British election campaign, has insisted a summit meeting is assured and has indicated credit for this should accrue to him and his leadership.

Apparently Washington felt obliged to tug a bit of the rug from under Macmillan by announcing there had been no agreement to convene the meeting. Britain's Laborites jumped on this happily, accusing Macmillan of making election stunts of world issues. And in Paris, France tartly reminded everybody that she, at any rate, had not even been consulted.

Possibly Khrushchev derived some satisfaction from all this Western confusion.

But Khrushchev, who has given every indication he devoutly wants a summit meeting, likely will have some problems himself in this respect.

Although President Eisenhower

found that the main obstacles had been removed, he still might be waiting for the results of further tests. Does Khrushchev, for example, really want firm agreement on key issues? Or does he want the conference primarily to capture the world's attention while the Communist movement marks time and awaits opportunities?

Khrushchev's congratulations Tuesday to the East German Communist regime, marking its 10th anniversary today, might arouse considerable skepticism over how much things have changed. In his name, the Kremlin hailed the German Communist regime for an "indefatigable struggle for liquidation of the obsolete occupation regime in West Berlin" and for promoting "solution of the national task of unification of Germany on a peaceful and democratic basis."

This seems to indicate continued Communist pressure on West Berlin, which is a brilliant testimony to Western standards, deep in the heart of a Communist-run state, and a constant thorn in the Communist side.

As for Germany's reunification, that has the distinct look of red herring. Khrushchev himself has shown clearly he sees little prospect for reunification on any basis at all.

Khrushchev provoked a crisis last November by setting a time limit for ending the four-power occupation of Berlin. Recently, during his American visit, he assured President Eisenhower there would be no time limit on West Berlin negotiations. This seemed to remove the impression of ultimatum.

But — was the ultimatum really ever there? Was Khrushchev really prepared to test the West's mettle by holding to a deadline? In short, was he prepared to risk war over Berlin? It seems unlikely.

If that is the case, then it is difficult to see just how the Soviet attitude has changed at all. President Eisenhower may well be waiting, before agreeing to a summit meeting, to hear if, how, and in what respect the Soviets have given any ground.

Test of Democracy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Intervention In Steel Strike Is Questioned

Right in front of our eyes a test of the strength of the Democratic system is going on. The steel strike has produced such big losses to the public that many people looking for the easy way out — are urging the government to step in and "do something." This is supposed to lead to a settlement. But it could lead to state capitalism — the very thing Mr. Khrushchev says boastfully will prove to be the victorious system of the future.

Once the people give up control of their own affairs in peacetime and decide to let the government fix wages and prices, the party in power will be in a position to decide everything else—including the government's use of tax money as capital to buy up the steel industry, the railroads and any other business.

The bystanders who want the Taft-Hartley Act invoked know, of course, that at the end of the 80-day cooling off period under that law there is no legal obligation upon either the employers or the unions to agree to a settlement. The invoking of government injunctions to bring the workers back to the plants doesn't settle anything.

What then is the solution? If it is not to be a government-imposed settlement, what can be done? Is compulsory arbitration a way out?

THE ANSWER to this is that it depends on which side has the political influence to choose the arbitrators.

There is, indeed, a solution and it's the only democratic way to bring about the settlement of big strikes. It's by laying the case in all its details before the court of public opinion.

If the American people, including the workers themselves, could really get a clear picture of the principles involved, there is no question about what the verdict would be in each case. For the public, including the workers, can tell what is fair and who is right. Thus far the American people have never been given a thorough understanding of what collective bargaining is or rather what it is supposed to be.

If it means that one side makes all the concessions and that once a point is conceded in a given year it becomes permanent and never can be changed in collective bargaining agreements in future years, even if economic conditions change, then indeed the process is so inflexible that it is no longer "bargaining." It becomes instead a dictated settlement with one side—the more powerful economic group at the time—becoming the dictator.

If, moreover, the workers themselves do not get the facts and let their officers decide the issues without consulting the desires of the union members as they could be expressed in secret ballots, then the dictatorship of a few over the many will have been established.

THE ISSUES, to be sure, are not confined merely to the parties to the dispute. The public, it has often been said, is the "party of the third part." If this be so, then a comprehensive presentation of the principles as well as the facts involved in the application of those principles is even more necessary.

Take the latest move in the steel strike. For weeks the unions have been complaining that industry had made no offer and that there was no negotiating going on.

The industry did make an offer in the last few days. It was immediately rejected by the unions as "totally unacceptable."

Is it possible that in this long and complicated offer, which included many benefits in pensions, compensation in the first year and a wage increase in the second year, there was nothing acceptable to the unions? To ask the question is to answer it.

David McDonald, head of the Steelworkers Union, in commenting on the offer publicly conceded that there would be pension and insurance benefits but he objected to the unions' paying anything for them. He declared that for the industry and the unions each to pay half of the increased benefits mean a decrease in "take-home pay" for the workers.

SINCE WHEN is the money contributed toward pension and insurance benefits no longer an investment of pay by the employee and merely a cost to be paid 100 percent by the employer?

Must all "fringe" benefits hereafter be paid by the employer by means of an increase in wages to cover all such pension and insurance costs?

If so, then there is no other way out of it but to increase steel prices and bring on more and more inflation that causes the dollar to decline in purchasing power and penalizes especially the fixed-income citizens, of whom there are many millions.

What is needed is more publicity—more public discussion of the facts underlying the steel dispute. For they do indeed concern the public.

Unfortunately, too many people say, "let the government settle it." That's the way to state control of everything and, if that's coming, there had better be a few apologies offered soon to Mr. Khrushchev.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

I believe the unemployment statistics used in this country are as phony as all other statistics cooked up by guesswork and suspect the whole arrangement would fall of its own weight if anyone poked an inquisitive finger into it.

Whatever may have been wrong with the money-grabbing decision to move the Dodgers within tasting distance of the fleshpots of Jolly-Funnia, it's nice for us working stiff to get home in time to see the last half of a World Series game played in Los Angeles.

Nothing makes me feel so frustrated as to find off-color stories I've been telling reprinted in Reader's Digest—all doctored up for the family trade by substitution of nice words for bad ones. Makes me want to hunt up all the people I told the stories to and apologize for wasting their time.

Is there anything more confusing than looking for an address in a strange city whose one-way street system apparently makes it impossible to hit the target you are aiming at?

With no prejudice to either side in the steel dispute, I think it has been obvious for a long time that United Steelworkers can qualify as the current example of what happens when you grab a bear by the tail. You can't let go and you can't hang on forever.

As the only person of my acquaintance willing to bet all comers that quiz shows were rigged, I am enjoying the belated evidence that in show business there always has to be a script; that you cannot tell the players with a program.

I think it is absurd to assume, as many people seem to be assuming, that all kids who turn sour are the result of someone's mistake, or in some way the fault of society. I think we must make generous allowance for the probability that a fixed percentage of kids always turn sour; that they are born for the hangman, as our ancestors used to say.

Patience has rewarded me. The ancient coupe that carries me to and from work is exactly like the new compact cars—short wheelbase, six-cylinder engine, no gingerbread, low overhead and not much underneath.

To those who may think the government has no stake in the economic analysis induced by strikes, it must come as a shock to be reminded that the loss of federal taxes alone is a multi-hundred-million-dollar item and that the 1959 steel strike will throw the national budget out of balance.

I am unable to understand the difference between plate prices and full-dinner prices on restaurant menus that list the two in parallel columns and feel certain the confusion is promulgated for the sole purpose of fleecing the customer out of more money than he is inclined to part with.

Though I am not shocked by it, the wild school of church architecture must be pretty hard on traditionalists who think they know how a church should look.

Until I have whiffed the one odor peculiar to autumn, I do not feel the season is official. It is smoke from a hardwood fire wafted over country fields on a sparkling night in October.

Harry Truman had my sympathy when he was trying to live up to the responsibilities of the presidency, but now that he is in retirement I pay no more attention to his pronouncements than I pay to the rare statements by Herbert Hoover, who has my sympathy because he keeps his mouth shut.

What do people whose children have been taught that the nice Germans and the industrious Japanese are America's buddy-buddies tell the tots when wartime movies are warmed over and shown on TV. Or is that the reason the ancient flicks are kept out of sight until the tots are in bed?

STEELWORKERS

This is the Companies' 15 cent Offer Your Union Turned it Down

In response to President Eisenhower's urgent request for an immediate non-inflationary settlement through the voluntary processes of free collective bargaining, the steel companies have done two things:

First, they have made a specific, 15-cents-an-hour package offer providing for increased wages and benefits over the period of a two-year agreement.

Second, they have scaled down to an irreducible minimum the requests for improvements in contract language, adhering only to those changes that would clearly operate in the long-range interests of the steelworkers themselves.

Details of the Offer

Specifically, the companies offered to improve the pension, insurance and supplemental unemployment benefit programs in the first year of a two-year agreement, and to increase wage rates at the beginning of the second year by amounts ranging from 6 cents for the lowest job class to 12 cents for the highest job class—the total package to increase the companies' employment costs by 15 cents per man-hour worked, or about 2 per cent per year of total employment costs which, before the strike, amounted to $3.70 per hour.

As a part of this offer to increase wages and benefits, the companies called upon the union to join in working out mutually satisfactory amendments to the prior basic labor agreements in four general areas. The purpose of these amendments would be:

1. To continue payment of the 17-cents-per-hour cost-of-living adjustment which was in effect at the expiration of the prior labor agreements; but to eliminate provisions for future changes either up or down.
2. To enable management to take reasonable steps to eliminate waste and to improve efficiency; but protect and preserve the right of employees to resort to grievance and arbitration procedure under which management would be required to justify fully the reasonableness of its actions.
3. To permit flexibility in the scheduling of work to conform with the requirements of the business.
4. To deter wildcat strikes by permitting the discharge of any employee engaging in such action and by clarifying the responsibility of local unions in respect to wildcat strikes occurring within their jurisdiction.

Companies' Offer Flexible

In the bargaining sessions, the companies pointed out that the offer of a two-year 15-cents-an-hour package of improved benefits and wages was purposely stated in terms which would provide maximum flexibility in arriving at the distribution of this sum as between wages and benefits, so as to give the greatest possible satisfaction to the employees. It was also pointed out that the companies were entirely willing to consider alternate benefits should the immediate effect of improved insurance benefits upon take-home pay present problems that would preclude the arrival at a settlement of the strike.

They also pointed out that this offer to increase employment costs by 2 per cent per year represents the maximum that can be undertaken at this time without resulting in an inflationary increase in production costs.

Union Demands More Inflation

The union leaders on the other hand persist in their demands for highly inflationary wage and benefit increases; and proposed a settlement that would call for employment cost increases that could amount to 60 or more cents per hour over a three-year period. The difference between the 20 or more cents an hour increased cost per year of the union's proposal and the 7½ cent annual increased cost of the companies' offer would be sheer inflation and must be recognized as such.

Any such increase in steelmaking costs would further injure the competitive position of the American steel industry in markets both at home and abroad, and would endanger the job security of American steelworkers. Similarly any failure on the part of the union to join in writing an agreement which will provide reasonably for the more efficient operation of the mills can only work to the disadvantage of the members of the union and of the American people as a whole.

Union Leaders Prolong Deadlock

The union's rejection of the companies' offer—coming as it does on the heels of President Eisenhower's appeal for a voluntary, non-inflationary settlement, clearly reveals the union leadership's responsibility for the continuing deadlock.

Throughout the negotiations the union leaders have insisted upon an inflationary, something-for-nothing settlement. They have offered nothing whatever in exchange for the increased wages and benefits they seek. They have resisted every effort to provide for increased efficiency of operations through improvement in the language of the former contracts. They have insisted that their members shall continue, year after year, to take more out of the business than they put into the business.

The companies, on the other hand, have — from the outset of the negotiations — had one consistent objective: to obtain a settlement that would not result in an increase in their production cost over the term of the new agreement. That is the only kind of settlement that would not have serious inflationary consequences

It is the only kind of settlement that would help preserve for the steelworkers, and for every American, the value of their earnings, savings and pensions; and would enable the companies to compete more effectively with foreign steel and other competing materials, thus increasing output and employment.

It is the only kind of settlement that would serve the best interests of the entire nation.

The Steel Companies' Position

To sum up the situation as it stands today, therefore, the companies want to make their position crystal clear:

They did not - and do not want a shutdown of their operations.

They do not want their employees to lose wages and employment because of a continued shutdown.

They have not sought government intervention in any form; but instead have exhausted every effort to secure a voluntary settlement that would be in the best interest of all.

They are not trying to undermine or destroy the union.

They do not seek to take away the basic rights of any employee.

They are not asking for the arbitrary right to change local work practices without employee recourse to grievance procedure and arbitration.

They do want to make a reasonable settlement and to live with the union and its members in peace and harmony.

But they are not willing to buy peace at the price of making agreements which will continue to promote inflation and which will prevent them from taking reasonable steps to improve the efficiency of their businesses.

So long as the union insists on wage and benefit increases of inflationary proportions, and refuses to deal reasonably with problems arising out of some of the contract provisions, no agreement will be possible.

One wonders when, if ever, the union leaders will recognize that the customers, the stockholders and the public generally, as well as the steelworkers, are entitled to fair treatment.

Cpl. Miller Seeks Candidates Here For State Patrol

An order to immediately step up recruiting for the Ohio State Highway Patrol was reported today by Cpl. John F. Miller, commander of Lisbon Post, as he announced a schedule for interviews with young men interested in the patrol as a career.

The order came from Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, superintendent, in line with Gov. DiSalle's request to bring the patrol to its authorized strength as quickly as possible.

Cpl. Miller said this means there are openings for both post dispatchers and recruit patrolmen. Immediate action may qualify a prospective patrolman for the Patrol Academy class scheduled to start this winter.

Basic requirements for a patrolman are 21 years of age, high school graduate or equivalent, resident of Ohio and at least 5 feet, 8 inches tall with a minimum weight of 165 pounds. His physical condition and moral character must be excellent.

A cadet dispatcher will be accepted two months prior to his twentieth birthday and certain minimum physical requirements will be waived providing it is indicated he will reach them before his 21st birthday. All other requirements are the same.

Cpl. Miller said he will be available for interviews and to answer all questions of men in the Salem area interested in either job on Monday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Memorial Building.

Inquiries also may be made at Lisbon Patrol Post.

Los Angeles Tops Chisox 9-3 to Win World Series

Wynn Is Chased In Fourth Inning

Lopez Says Neal, Sherry Difference

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers are the world champions of baseball today.

They beat the Chicago White Sox 9-3 Thursday in the sixth game of the World Series — and they did it in Chicago's Comiskey Park.

The Dodgers' victory, behind right-hander Larry Sherry, smashed the hopes of the White Sox, which had soared when the Chicago team scored a 1-0 comeback triumph Tuesday in the Los Angeles Coliseum, returning the Series to their home ground.

The Dodgers got rid of the best in the way of pitching the Sox had to offer, chasing burly Early Wynn early and sending Dick Donovan off in close pursuit.

It was only the second world championship in 10 tries for the Dodgers, their first since shifting to Los Angeles from Brooklyn two years ago.

Both championship teams have been managed by Walt Alston, who has led the Dodgers to three pennants in his six years.

This could be the richest of all series when the record $892,365.04 player pool is split up. A full winner's share should be worth at least $10,000 a man to the Dodgers possibly $11,000. The Sox should get from $7,000 to $7,500 each, which would be a record for a losing share.

This Dodger victory, making them the first ever to rocket from seventh place one year to the world championship the next, is the National League's fourth in six years over the American. The AL still leads in the over-all standings, however, 35-21.

The Dodgers, whose two defeats were shutouts, started rumbling against Wynn in the third in the finale when Duke Snider sent a 400-foot home run into the lower left-center-field seats with a man on.

Wynn, the first game winner at 11-0, got as far as the fourth inning in his third start of the series. The big right-hander showed quick signs of wildness. He gave way when Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres walloped an RB double to center.

That brought in right-hander Donovan, whose brilliant relief performance in Los Angeles had saved the fifth game for the Sox. This time, he gave up a walk to Junior Gilliam, a two-run double by Charlie Neal and a two-run homer by Wally Moon.

That made it a six-run inning, the Dodgers' largest ever in a series, and led to a string of six Sox pitchers. No. 5 was Billy Pierce, the experienced little southpaw.

There is no doubting the big man of the series. At 24, Sherry proved a cool, careful right-handed reliever. He was in on each of the Dodgers' four victories.

In all, he worked 12 2-3 innings in the four games, giving up eight hits and just one run while walking but two and striking out five in the series — first ever without a complete game pitcher on either club.

The Sox, a tight defensive club that made the most of its opportunities to win its first pennant in 40 years, were unsettled by the Coliseum, where the white-shirted, three-game crowd of 277,550 provided a poor background for fielders and hitters alike.

But Manager Al Lopez figured the best way to say what beat his Sox was "Sherry and Neal. They were the difference."

Neal, the thin thumper who plays second base, led both clubs with 10 hits and batted .370. He won the second game with two home runs.

Alston Happiest Man In Dodgers' Dressing Room

CHICAGO (AP) — You could never tell it by the calm manner in which he was accepting congratulations and by the serious, almost solemn look on his round face that the happiest man in the Dodgers' dressing room was Walter Alston.

The Dodgers' World Series success, capping their pennant victory, was in many ways a personal triumph for this kindly, good-natured, shy, Ohioan who, after six seasons of big league managing, finally has convinced his hard-bitten critics that he is highly capable leader.

"From a personal standpoint, this would have to be my greatest triumph, at least the most satisfying," he said slowly, choosing every word. "Winning the World Series with the Dodgers back in 1955 gave me a big thrill. At the time it was the greatest. After all, it was only my second year of managing, and it was the first world championship ever won by Brooklyn."

"But the Dodgers of '55 were a great team. They were, more or less, expected to win. We won 20 of our first 22 games and won the pennant by some 13 1/2 games. I don't want to take anything away from either of the teams but I think this team has given me a greater kick."

"After all, it wasn't expected to win. It started off slowly and gradually got better. This was a team job, pure and simple."

As a manager he hit a grand slammer, becoming the only one ever to capture the world championship on both coasts—Brooklyn and Los Angeles.

Season Winners At Canfield Listed

Bill Forney of Youngstown was the season champion in the late model division at the Canfield Speedway this year.

Dean Mast of Sugar Creek took the modified bomb title and Bob James of Montrose was top man in the new car division.

Jim Bickerstaff of Youngstown, who led the late model drivers at Canfield most of the season, lost out to Forney in the final card of the year. Forney gained a 10-point margin over Bickerstaff.

Mast won six feature events during the 1959 season to gain the modified title. Norm Calhoun of Akron was second.

James gained the checkered flag three times to capture the new car title.

All these drivers will be honored when Canfield Speedway holds its 1960 inaugural April 23.

Quaker Guard Problem Grows

Harshman, Lambert Both Are Injured

Leg injuries to veterans Bob Lambert and Fred Harshman may cause Salem Coach Earle Bruce to reach to his third unit for a starting left guard in tonight's game at Ambridge.

Lambert had been nominated to play the starting guard position after Harshman, the team's leading tackler, was injured in practice Monday. However, Lambert injured his leg near the end of Wednesday's practice session and today was limping worse than Harshman.

Bruce said he will probably call upon Larry Shaffer, a junior who has seen only limited varsity action to start at left guard. Shaffer is light for a lineman, weighing only 141 pounds.

Lambert is a 202-pound senior and Harshman a 164-pound junior. Both boys will dress for the game. Harshman is the more likely of the two to see action.

Tony Petrucci, who has a bruised back, will be kept out of the offensive lineup tonight but is expected to start on defense. The Quakers have an experienced end in Don Davidson who had pretty much taken over Petrucci's offensive assignment even before the injury.

The Quakers will wear white uniforms tonight. Game time at Ambridge is 8 p.m.

Cool weather with temperatures in the upper 30's is forecast for tonight's game. Rain in the Ambridge area was expected to cease this morning.

Foot Injury May Sideline Browns' Back

CLEVELAND (AP)—A foot ailment may keep Ray Renfro on the sidelines when the Cleveland Browns meet the New York Giants in their home opener Sunday.

Renfro, the Browns' fleet flanking back, did not participate in Thursday's drill on defense.

A calcium deposit is believed to be causing Renfro's trouble. He was hit by the painful arch condition a few days before the season opener at Pittsburgh, but with the aid of several injections of a pain reliever he struggled through most of that game.

"I didn't realize Ray was ailing as much as he was in Pittsburgh," Coach Paul Brown said Thursday. "He seemed all right before the game and I didn't notice him limping later on."

Brown said he would start either Rich Kreitling or Frank Clarke in Renfro's place Sunday if his foot still is sore.

Kreitling, the Browns' first draft choice, was shifted to the flanking spot last week against the Chicago Cardinals. Clarke has been playing behind end Billy Howton on the right side.

Renfro said he was hopeful his day against Illinois.

More than 82,000 fans are due to witness the 48th clash between the ancient rivals as the Bucks seek their sixth straight victory over the invaders and their 29th against 16 losses and a tie in the long series which started in 1902.

Coach Ray Eliot of the Illini, dean of Western Conference coaches, will be making his final appearance here and he'll be after his fifth win in 18 starts against him. He retires at the end of the campaign to become assistant athletic director.

The rivals go into this one with identical 1-1 records, and the odds-favorites figure the Bucks as six - point favorites. It whittles down, however to whether Indiana and Army are as formidable foes as Duke and Southern Cal.

Illinois, on a rainy, muddy field, lost 20-0 to Indiana. The Illini bounced right back, however, to defeat Army's fourth-rated Cadets 20-14.

Ohio, after nosing out Duke 14-13, was helpless before Southern Cal and dropped a 17-0 verdict.

The Illini-Ohio series has been replete with upsets and weird finishes, the oddest probably that of 1943 when Paul Brown was coaching the Baby Bucks. Ohio, in that wartime campaign, was represented by four 4-F players and a flock of freshmen.

The lead changed hands six times, then it was deadlocked at 26-26. On the final play Ohio quarterback Bob McQuade tossed an incomplete pass into the end zone, the gun was fired, and both teams trooped to their dressing rooms.

But the headlinesman, unnoticed and unheard, had thrown his cap to the ground to denote a foul. A newspaper reporter told the referee of the infraction as he walked off the field, and the top official declared the game couldn't end on an infraction.

The teams were recalled from the locker rooms for one more play. The ball was placed on Illinois' 23-yard line, and Johnny Stungis used the lone play for a placekick to give Ohio a 29-26 verdict in the "overtime" affair.

Since 1933 only one shutout has been chalked up in the series, and that came in 1951 when they battled to a scoreless tie.

With each team using wide-open professional - type offenses this year, and Ohio mixing passing with its usually devastating ground attack, this one could be a wild and woolly affair.

Two game figures this season show Illinois has out-gained the Bucks by 150 yards, and allowed 276 fewer than Ohio. If the statistics hold up, the 6-point edge granted the Bucks could fade swiftly.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. (EST).

Sebastian Wrestling Champ for 13 Years

Juan Sebastian, wrestling opponent of Salem's Frank "Toar" Julian here Tuesday night, is a 10-year veteran of the grunt and groin sport.

The international attraction has performed in Europe, South America and Canada, as well as the United States. His favorite hold is the atomic drop although he is proficient with many others.

Sebastian will tangle with Julian in the second of three bouts scheduled for the Hi Neighbor barn. The program will get underway at 8 with Chief White Owl meeting Ali Pasha.

Marvin Mercer and Oscar Verdu will be the opponents in the feature bout.

Pages from the Home Gardener's Notebook:

Paths Add Appeal to Your Garden

By ALLAN SWENSON
(Written for NEA Service)

Garden paths are more than functional. They add distinction to your home and grounds.

Paths guide friends to your door. Rustic walks add beauty to your shrub and flower plantings, when leading the eye to special displays or bordering attractive areas of your lawn. Paths and patios also extend your outdoor living space and can take more rugged use than lawns.

You don't need a green thumb to plant a path. There's a wide variety of materials you can use, depending on your style of home and personal preferences.

BRICKS, FLAGSTONES and concrete are popular materials for permanent paths. Endless variations are possible with ever-versatile brick. It fits in well with Colonial or modern design. Used bricks are often available at lower cost — sometimes for the asking — when buildings are being demolished.

Flagstones make excellent paths and are easy to lay. You can place them where you want a path and rearrange the stones for pleasing designs. When you have your layout made, cut the earth around each stone. Then dig slightly deeper than the stone itself and spread sand for a level footing. Set the stones level with the soil to make lawn mowing easier.

STONE SLABS are a natural for informal paths and steppingstone walks. When building a more formal path, it's best to prepare a full foundation. After removing the earth, add about two inches of cinders or gravel for good drainage and level surfacing.

Heavy wooden timbers, railroad ties and even slabs from logs can be made into distinctive and unusual paths. Old railroad ties are available in many areas, often for the asking. Telephone poles are another possibility. These materials are already pressure-treated with preservatives to prevent rotting. They can be expected to last for many years.

Unusual effects can be obtained by having these ties or poles cut into six- to eight-inch slabs. Set on end, these materials provide contrasts in textures and are good for patios, too.

PEBBLES, crushed stone and aggregate have potential. In planning your path, select whichever material suits your taste and budget. Ingenuity is the key to attractive paths, more than the materials you use.

For concrete walks, a frame of used lumber can be staked out in straight lines or curved patterns. Smaller wooden frames can be re-used for individual concrete steppingstones. Brushing the cement will give it a textured appearance. Tinting is another good idea for unusual effects. You can color concrete to harmonize with the basic colors of your house.

When planning walks, consider the care they will need. Even with power equipment, trimming and edging take time. Weeding of the walks can be easily done with herbicides, one application for good control all year.

BUILDING IS DOWN

EAST PALESTINE—Four building permits amounting to $17,100 were issued in September by Mrs. Sue Griffith, secretary of the city planning commission. This compares to $46,900 for August, and brings the total amount of permits to date to $176,000 for 1959. The September permits include a new home for Dr. William Fullerton on Cyland Ave. and improvements and garages to existing properties.

EDSEL LOOK CHANGES — Fresh styling and roomy interiors characterize the Edsel for 1960. The Ranger four-door sedan, above, is one of seven low cost models which also include a two and four-door hardtop, two-door sedan, convertible and two Villager station wagons. Wide tread design with extra long springs assure a smooth, stable ride. Edsel's six and standard V-8 engines operate efficiently and economically on regular gasoline. Ike Suggests 50-50 Basis In Appointments

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's hard to imagine a more determined Republican than Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio).

As a sample, consider this: For several years Brown had a secretary, Eleanor Teahan, in his Washington office. She came here from Springfield, Ohio.

All the time Miss Teahan worked for him, she said, Brown steadfastly called her by her middle name, Ann—never Eleanor. Why? It reminded him too forcefully of someone he would rather not think of, Eleanor Roosevelt.

All this is brought up at this point because President Eisenhower, through Atty. Gen. William Rogers, has made a proposal to the Democratic Congress that could affect Brown.

The proposal is this: If Congress enacts a law creating new judgeships, President Eisenhower will fill half of the vacancies with Democrats.

It is not unprecedented for a Republican president to appoint a Democrat to a judgeship or for a Democratic president to appoint a Republican. Eisenhower's proposal is unusual in that he would appoint Republicans and Democrats on a 50-50 basis.

Should Eisenhower's proposal come to pass, Brown would be very much involved. Ever since Sen. John W. Bricker was defeated, Brown has been the No. 1 Ohio Republican in charge of federal patronage.

In fact, his party has done extremely well in Ohio judgeships since Brown took that job.

The Senate has confirmed, under Brown's regime: Two judges for the Sixth Circuit Court in Cincinnati, Lester Cecil and Paul C. Weick; one judge for the Southern Ohio District, Carl A. Weinman; and one judge for the Northern Ohio District, Girard E. Kalbfleisch.

Each of these was a Republican. But what if new legislation—calling for three more judges in Ohio—were enacted? Would Brown be obliged to help select a Democrat?

It seems unlikely. Unfortunately, nobody seems to know how it would be handled. All anyone has to go on are these words spoken by Rogers in August:

"The President authorized me to tell congressional leaders that he would fill the new posts on a 50-50 basis from the two parties. The President did that because he was eager to get the new judges."

Actually, Congress came extremely close to enacting new judgeship legislation just before going home. Then something happened, and the idea was dropped.

You will hear more about this when Congress comes back, however. In fact, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, plans early hearings on his bill to create 44 new judgeships.

As for the White House proposal to give half of those jobs to Democrats, Celler says he would look those people over closely.

They had better not be Eisenhower Democrats, says Celler, because "in my book they are not Democrats."
